

me a check of sufficient size to defray the necessary expenses, and subsequently made me several times upon the subject of White, asking each time what progress we were making.

Discoveries Were Amazing.
Our investigation confirmed to a great degree what Thaw had told me. Our detectives were astounded at what they discovered. We worked hard, and they discovered a great deal, but of all cases these are the hardest to prove under the rules of evidence, and before risking an arrest I determined to catch White in his iniquity.

I learned that his rooms in the tower were at Mrs. Evelyn Thaw's described them in the trial. Two of our detectives endeavored to hire rooms in the same tower in order to watch his goings and comings. The deal was almost complete when one of the detectives made a blunder. Something which he said or did gave the alarm to the janitor, and although we were on the waiting list for a long time, and although several times apartments in the tower were vacant, we were never able to get a suite or a single room. We were still vainly trying to arrange a trap from which there would be no escape for White when he dismissed his room in the tower.

I learned positively of one case where White had ruined a girl only fifteen years old almost identically as Mrs. Evelyn Thaw describes her own case, but the girl was in the chorus of a road company and we could not reach her and make a witness of her. We got partial evidence of other things—things that convince me that what Harry Thaw's wife now swears is true. I believe in her story, and I base that belief upon what I know of the man.

"The last time I saw Harry Thaw was only two or three weeks before he shot White. He appeared to be in a desperate state—like a man who is in a financial strait. He said to me wildly: 'You must keep on. You must stop this man! He must be stopped now—at once!'"

GREAT LEGAL BATTLE TO-DAY

Delmas and Jerome to Fight Regarding Thaw's Will.

NEW YORK, February 10.—Late to-night it was said that Mrs. Thaw was anxious to have the ordeal over as soon as possible, and had decided that she be permitted to resume the stand to-morrow. This was not promised, though it was said that possibly Mrs. Thaw might be called.

Mr. Delmas's direct examination of Mrs. Thaw will probably consume some hours. The district attorney has been making the most minute preparation for his cross-examination, and was in conference to-day with several persons, who, it is said, will be called as witnesses. When the trial is resumed to-morrow morning there is likely to be the liveliest tilt between the lawyers that has yet marked the trial.

The defense will call to the stand F. C. Perkins, a lawyer of Pittsburg, who drew up Harry Thaw's will. Mr. Perkins arrived here to-day, and he is expected to be called as a witness. On the other hand, Mr. Jerome will strive to keep it out, and a battle will be the result.

To-night Captain Ricketts, who is now in charge of the jurors, announced that to-morrow no one would be allowed in the courtroom except those who have been summoned as witnesses. He said that this would be done because of the testimony, and added that he would have an extra detail of court officers on hand to enforce this rule.

DELMAS SAYS HALF HAS NOT BEEN SOLD

"If Mrs. Thaw Had Told All the Story There Would Have Been No Need for Other Evidence."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., February 10.—After a brief visit to Philadelphia, Delphin Michael Delmas, counsel for Harry K. Thaw, on trial for the murder of Stanford White, who arrived in Philadelphia Saturday night, left for New York this evening. During the day he attended mass at St. John's Church, and took an automobile ride through the park.

"I was not here on any matter connected with the Thaw case," said Mr. Delmas, "but came to Philadelphia for precisely the opposite reason—to get rid of the Thaw case for a day or two. But while here I learned all about the case of Harry Thaw, second cousin of Harry Thaw, who is confined now in Frankford Asylum."

"As to what we shall do in the morning when court opens, I cannot speak for several reasons. First, I am a lawyer and have my client's interest to protect. Next, I really do not know what will be done. My colleagues in New York, no doubt, have been discussing the matter, and have determined what is best. I can only add my voice to the conference to be held to-night. I am much encouraged with the present outlook of the case. I think the jury must have been impressed with Evelyn Thaw's story."

Chatting about the dramatic story unfolded by the girl-wife, Delmas said: "Before we put Evelyn Nesbit Thaw on the stand I heard her story but once. There was no rehearsal, no attempt at dramatic play. The story as she told it in the courtroom is not half as tragic as it was when she told it to me during our preparation of the case."

If she had told in court the details she told me there is not a jury in the wide, wide world that would convict Harry Thaw. Only once in my life have I been so touched with emotion as I was when Evelyn Nesbit Thaw first told me her story. That was at the grave of my father, when the last clod of earth was thrown on his coffin.

"As I sat there, as a lawyer, listening to the girl narrate the story of what she had suffered at the hands of Stanford White, the tears welled into my eyes, and I fairly sobbed. She told me then that when she awoke and found Stanford White leaning over her in that mirrored bedroom, he seemed to her like a big gorilla; his hair was disheveled, and the look in his face was like an animal. I screamed with terror," she told me. She added many details which had she told the jury, there would have been no need on our part to produce further evidence. As we had not rehearsed our parts, I depended simply on her memory as to facts. The presence of the crowded courtroom, disconcerted to the extent that she omitted some of the most revolting features of that fatal night."

DELIVERS SERMON ON THE THAW CASE

Pittsburg Minister Preaches to Those Who Know the Principals.

PITTSBURG, Pa., February 10.—Taking for his topic "The Blessings and Curses of Wealth and Poverty," the Rev. C. W. Blodgett, at the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, one of the largest in Allegheny City, to-day preached a most sensational sermon, citing the Thaw case, on trial now in New York, and urging it as a warning in the rearing of children.

"Wealth need not be a corrupter of morals," he said. "It is the vulgarism of it that the world recoils from. No child should be trusted with a dollar until he has learned the value of the same by earning it by the sweat of his brow. This country is reeling of the tragic scenes in the court of justice in New York with intense interest."

Pittsburg People.
"Pittsburg is deeply interested. Here on the streets of Allegheny the poor unfortunate wife of the chief actor played when she was a girl. Across the river, the husband now on trial for murder of a man in New York, the revelations of whose life makes you shudder with horror, spent his boyhood days. They both came from respectable families. One knew what poverty was—hunger for bread—the other, when a mere lad, spent enough money in a year to keep a dozen families. They both go wrong.

ROGER O'MARA, former chief of police of Pittsburg and director of the search for evidence in defense of Thaw.

"One, seemingly, by the cruel hand of fate, the other through love that was blinded. All our hearts bleed for them. Will the fathers and mothers of this and other cities take any warning?"

"We sing 'Where is My Wandering Boy To-Night?' but where is your girl? At the place of amusement, then decayed into some sordid studio—then sorrow and a life worse than hell."

No higher virtue should be demanded of women than of men. The same code of ethics should apply to both.

"A scoundrel of a man, poor or rich, should have the same treatment as the abandoned woman. Poor Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is not the only girl that has been cruelly treated as she was she was."

"Of the outcome of the trial of Harry Thaw, the reckless and unfortunate boy of one of our most respected homes, millions are interested. What of the outcome of the lads and lassies not grown to manhood. Hearts are still to be broken and homes made desolate and some of them may be yours."

JACK BARRYMORE ESCAPES JEROME

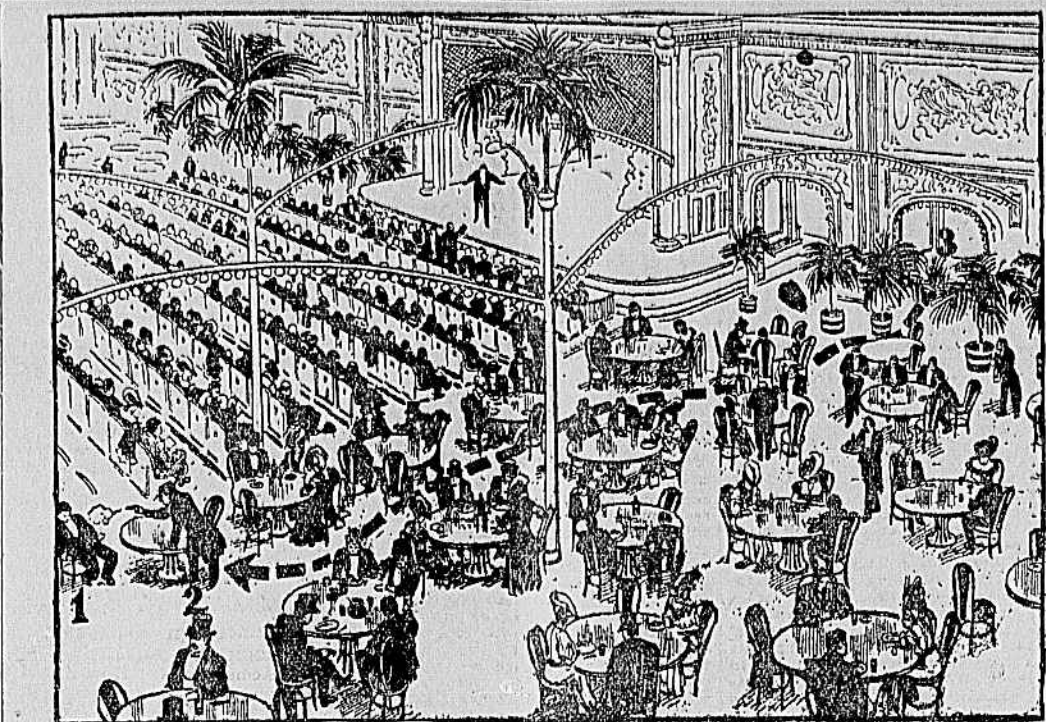

Will Neither Affirm Nor Deny That He Asked Evelyn Nesbit to Marry Him.

POLAND SPRINGS, ME., February 10.—Broken down in health and almost a nervous wreck, Jack Barrymore, the actor, has taken rooms at the Mansion House for an indefinite period. He declares that he did not come to Maine to avoid being called as a witness in the Thaw case.

"I came here on the advice of my physician," he said, "who told me that my health would be benefited by a quiet rest and plenty of good air."

He declined to affirm or deny the fifth of Mrs. Thaw's testimony relative to his proposed marriage to her. He says he will not be a witness in the case unless extradition papers are granted for his removal from the State.

Jack Barrymore is a son of the late Maurice Barrymore, whose wife was Agnes Drew, the sister of John Drew. Barrymore's sister is Ethel

HERBOSA THOUGHT WAR WAS AVERTED

Says He Received Friendly Wires From Both Presidents.

PANAMA, February 10.—Francisco J. Herbosa, Chilean minister to the Central American republics, who is in this city on his way to Valparaiso, said to the Associated Press to-day: "Before my departure from Costa Rica, last Wednesday, I offered my services to arbitrate the questions in dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua, in case the San Salvador tribunal could not reach an acceptable decision. Both President Bonilla of Honduras and President Zelaya of Nicaragua wired me such conciliatory messages that I felt, believing that war between the two republics would not result."

MASS MEETING TO CHECK THAW NEWS

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., February 10.—A mass meeting of women was held at the First Baptist Church this afternoon for the purpose of protesting against the printing in the daily papers of the revolting details in the Thaw murder case, and all other criminal court proceedings of like nature.

The auditorium of the church was filled with women, while only a few men were present. A short address was made by Mayor W. L. Frieron.

The protest, it was stated, was made "in the interest of the sanctity of our homes and the purity of our children, and to protect against the minute and detailed account given in the daily papers of the sensational and scandalous proceedings of the criminal court."

Mayor Frieron, in his address, stated that the reports of the Thaw trial were disgusting and disgraceful in their detail. He said some of the news agencies had gone too far in their accounts.

The meeting to-day followed a preliminary meeting Friday, when two prominent club women were appointed to draw up formal protest to be presented at to-day's meeting.

COMMON SAILOR IS A MILLIONAIRE

J. Raynor Storrs Is Now a Model Seaman—Visits Wife in Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., February 10.—J. Raynor Storrs Wells, the young millionaire of New York and Newport, whose enlistment in the United States Navy several months ago, following a sensational marriage, has been a girl, has been victorious over all the early ills of his enlistment, and now an able seaman. This evening he is spending with his wife at the Monticello, Norfolk's leading hotel.

Mrs. Wells arrived at the hotel early in the day, her seaman husband left time and talking with her at the hotel. It is understood that he is to stick to his guns and serve his enlistment out. He is said to be a good comrade aboard the cruiser Cleveland, to which he is now attached. The Cleveland returned here several days ago from the West Indies and today Wells saw his wife, whom he had not seen before for many weeks. In a big, bold hand he registered at the hotel, giving the place he is from as the U. S. "Cleveland."

Newspaper correspondents who sought the sailor for interviews were not admitted, and he threatened to leave the hotel if they persisted in trying to talk to him.

Bishop and Mrs. Jagger are at No. 115 East Franklin Street, and will be glad to see the many friends they made while in Richmond last winter.

MOORE IN THE RACE.

By Walter Edward Harris.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 10.—A friend of Hon. R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax county, stated to-day that Mr. Moore would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to succeed Mr. Rixey as representative from the Eighth District of Virginia.

The entrance of Mr. Moore as a candidate, which now seems certain, puts an aspect upon the fight for the nomination which it did not bear when it was written last night, at which time it was stated Mr. Moore would not contest for the honor.

There is no doubt, it would seem, that a full half dozen candidates for

ESCAPE FROM BURNING HOUSE IN NIGHT CLOTHES

WILMINGTON, N. C., February 10.—Scarcely clad and almost overcome by a dense, stifling smoke, the family of A. W. Anderson, general superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, escaped from their burning residence early this morning.

The fire originated in a pile of shavings on the rear porch. The flames spread rapidly, cutting the home before the firemen could reach the scene.

MRS. C. J. HOLMAN, MRS. THAW'S MOTHER. The mother of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is now residing in Pittsburg with her second husband, to whom she was married recently. On the witness stand, during the trial of the terrible wrong which had been done her by Stanford White, Evelyn said that her mother consented to the little girl's visiting White's parties, because "he was a nice man." It is related that when Mrs. Holman heard the story told by her daughter she faints.

JOHN A. FINLEY HORRIBLY MURDERED

MONTGOMERY, ALA., February 10.—The body of John A. Finley, a well-known young man, of Montgomery, twenty-four years old and unmarried, was found early to-day in a lonely spot in the southwestern edge of the city. His throat was cut, and there were forty-five gashes in the face and neck.

Robbery is believed to have been the motive, as Finley's pockets had been emptied. Five negroes are held by the police as suspects.

BROKE UP CRAP GAME.

Officer Walker Intrudes and Nabs Players.

Daniel Johnson, colored, was arrested by Policeman Walker early yesterday morning on the charge of running a disorderly house at 1277 Blair Street.

In the house, George Gafford, Edward Evans and Elijah Kemp, all sons of Ham, were enjoying a quiet little game of craps when the officer so rudely and inconsiderately broke up their game. Motion to adjourn until a brighter day was made and adopted, and the four colored citizens accompanied Officer Walker to the Second Station, where they were given comfortable quarters for the day and night.

MUNYON'S GREAT GIFT

His Remedies to be Given Away Absolutely Free

Ten Thousand Bottles of His Guaranteed Rheumatism Cure Will Be Distributed From The Times-Dispatch.

Distribution Begins This Morning at 8:30 o'Clock, Continuing Until 8:30 at Nights.

EVERYBODY INVITED

Every Sufferer of Rheumatism is Asked to Call and Get a Free Bottle.

Prof. Munyon has requested this paper to make distributions of his guaranteed Rheumatism Cure. This makes the fifteenth distribution Prof. Munyon has made.

His proposition is certainly a fair one. He does not ask the people to invest one penny. On the contrary, he invites everybody to call for a free bottle. Even the greatest skeptics must admit that this is a fair and generous proposition.

It is said that Prof. Munyon has made millions of dollars by this liberal plan. His remedies are sold throughout the civilized world, and he claims that his Rheumatism Cure has cured more rheumatics than all the doctors and medicines that have ever been compounded.

From the testimonials that have been published from the leading people of the world it would seem that his statement is fully justified. He certainly must know that his remedies will do all that he claims for them or he would not distribute them free.
